PRIEST CORNER

See you soon!

Happy Easter and Divine Mercy Sunday! I have about one month left until I am back states side and I am reflecting a lot these days on just how much I must learn and how little time there is to get it all done!

I asked my grandparents one time when I was in College if time ever slows down or if we ever get caught up in our lives? They smiled and said you have much to learn!

In these days of Easter, we are rejoicing in what has already been done for us. Christ has conquered sin and death once and for all and opened for us the path to eternal life. The foundations of this bridge were formed and laid by his public ministry, passion and death on the cross, and then finished and opened by his resurrection.

However, we still find ourselves in this valley of tears. Our families still have issues, illnesses still take lives too early from our loved ones, and sin continues to exist in our lives. How then do we live in the resurrection and in the reality that in Christ

Entering into His Divine Mercy

Dear Parishioners,
This Sunday, we are beholding to Saint Pope John Paul II, because he canonized his fellow countrywomen, Sr. Faustina and initiated celebrating on this second Sunday of Easter, Divine Mercy Sunday in commemoration of the Divine Apparitions she received.

It is not as if the concept of the immense Mercy of God was not already part of this completion to the Octave of Easter, immersed in the Resurrection Appearance of the Lord to the Apostles and the proclamation, "Peace be with you! As I have forgiven you, so must you forgive others."

everything changes? I draw your attention to one of my favorite lines from the Easter Vigil's Exsultet.

"O truly necessary sin of Adam, destroyed completely by the death of Christ! O happy fault that earned so great, so glorious a Redeemer!"

None of us are the savior of the world. However, we are called to follow the savior our Lord Jesus Christ, and until Christ comes again we are called to be faithful followers of Him. The way is open and the toll for passage has been paid. Now we must be disciples.

That means every obstacle in our lives has to have Christ as part of the solution. If Christ is not present we are not allowing him to fulfill his mission for us. These are the baby steps that we need as we learn to walk again with legs of the resurrection this Easter. Yes, the world is still not perfected, and neither are we, but we take the next step with the strength and in the direction of the One who is!

Happy Easter, and may God's Divine Mercy continue to wash us anew these days of celebration and renewal.

Fr. Jacob

And yet the Divine image of the blood and water radiating forth from the heart of the risen Lord speaks volumes to this Divine Mercy and make it more accessible for our faith. We enter more deeply into this often unseen and unpracticed virtue of mercy. We are invited to share in the glorious peace and joy that comes from this single source of everlasting mercy. His mercy is Everlasting!

Please consider joining us for the Divine Chapel at 3:00 pm in the Church this Sunday, Divine Mercy Sunday to join Catholics throughout the world in remembering the hour of the death of our Lord and the great fountain of mercy which poured forth.

Fr. Jim
